FOREWORD.

HIS Collection of Military and Naval Medals and Decorations, formed by Mr. W. Phillips, is by far the most important, and generally the most interesting, collection of these historical relics which has come up for disposal, containing as it does examples of the principal military and naval distinctions which have been conferred from the very earliest times down to the twentieth century, some of them unique and others of such rare occurrence as to be seldom met with.

The pièce de résistance of the Collection is the Gold Medal for Vimiera with clasp for Maida, and the accompanying gold medal for Maida, formerly in the collection of Lt.-Colonel R. L. Birkin; and amongst other rarities in gold are the Peninsula Gold Cross and naval medals for Trafalgar and the 1st of June, the latter to the Captain of the celebrated battleship H.M.S. The Royal George.

The examples of medals won in the early battles under Wellington and his Generals, in various parts of the globe, and under Nelson and his Captains in every sea, are of the greatest interest, and the special decorations for distinguished services of every kind illustrate very completely the military and naval achievements of British Soldiers and Sailors.

The series of medals awarded at rare intervals by British Sovereigns, from the time of George I., to Native Chiefs for loyalty, is without doubt the most interesting and most valuable collection in existence, and there are some specially rare varieties presented for the same purpose by Louis XV., and by the representatives of George III. in America, which medals bear the mark of the New York Medallist, D. C. Fueter.

The charm of the whole Collection is the condition of the medals, which almost without exception are very fine, and in many cases in brilliant state. For the assurance of collectors every piece is guaranteed authentic, and some endeavour has been made to convey to collectors the condition and importance of the Collection by the sixteen plates with which the catalogue is illustrated.

 Mr. Ed. B. March was a nephew of Major-General Wm. Hr. March, R.M., C.B. |

Received the decoration of the Albert Medal of the First Class, February 27th, 1868, for Gallantry in Saving Life at Sea. Mr. March also had the French Imperial Gold Medaille de Sauvetage, the Royal Humane Society's Silver Medal, and the Star of the Spanish Order of Beneficencia of the First Class.

An account of the incident for which Mr. March received the Albert Medal of the First Class, the Royal Humane Society's Silver medal, &c., states that "On the evening of the 7th of December, 1867, the French ship 'Nouveau Caboteur' was cast on the shore in the Bay of Zurriola, San Sebastian, during a gale of wind. The sea at the time was running so heavily that no boat would venture to put off. There was also a general belief that it was impossible for a boat to be of any service. At this crisis, the British Vice-Consul at San Sebastian, Mr. Edward Bernard March, after unsuccessfully entreating some of the bystanders to accompany him, plunged into the sea, swam through the breakers at the risk of being dashed against the rocks, and succeeded in bringing a rope to the land. It was then secured and one of the crew came safely to shore along it. The second, however (a lad), lost his hold, dropped into the sea, and sank. Then Mr. E. B. March, at the greatest possible risk, again swam to the vessel, dived near her keel, recovered the lad in a half-insensible condition, and brought him safe to shore. The remainder of the crew, four in number, got safely to land."
